money is a motivator for your employees. You would agree, that in order to get the most out of your workforce you should pay them more. If you manage under Theory Y, money may be a part of your business but is not what drives your employees to achieve. The last theory I would like to look at is Herzberg's Motivation-Hygiene Theory. This theory focuses on the factors causing job satisfaction ...

The survey depicts that money is not the sole motivator for the employees. While it is true, it also showed that the employees underreport the significance of pay as motivational factor in several situations. The research also suggests that people's real behavior and choices are different than that reported when it comes to motivation by pay ...
